A Peek at Our Week:

- ❖ This week has been very busy for our young minds. We started the week off with a lesson on self-control. This allowed our young students to actually practice in the moment having control over their body. I feel like it made an impact on their thoughts about controlling their body.
- ❖ I input some new art processes into our environment so the children have new, longer processes to support the development of organization.
- ❖ We had the opportunity to learn about Mardi Gras this Tuesday and decorated our own masks. We watched a video about the traditions and had our own parade in our classroom.
- ❖ For Ash Wednesday, we had a lesson about the 10 commandments. We refer to these as God's rules. I explain that when we break God's rules, we get a little further away from Jesus. In order to get closer to God again, we should make better choices, pray, and be sorry.
- ❖ We continue our work on Mammals and will begin fish next. We also started to learn about the musical instruments in South America.

Coming UP:

Tues. 3/10 – DME parent night
(Discover the Montessori
Experience) @6:30

Fri. 3/13 – No School

Teacher's Note:

DME is our parent education nights when we invite the parents to our classrooms and teach you about what your child is doing while they are at school. They are very helpful in creating a fruitful experience for your child. Hope you can all come. Our topic will include language development.

We have started our lenten season and have discussed several options of sacrifices we could give up during lent. This is a great way to keep our hearts aimed at Jesus during this sorrowful time of year.

For those who are unfamiliar, please don't hesitate to ask for more information about our faith. I love to share all about God's love for us.
